Medi-Cal Managed Care Plans: Diabetes Care HEDIS Measures

Prepared for California Optometric Association

California Health Policy Strategies, LLC

Revised August, 2018

Introduction to HEDIS Measures

Both Medi-Cal Managed Care plans and commercial plans are required to report common health outcome measures called HEDIS (Healthcare Effectiveness Data and Information Set) scores.

There are 53 county or region-specific Medi-Cal Managed Care plans that serve over 10 million Californians.

The California Department of Health Care Services (DHCS) tracks and publishes HEDIS scores of all Medi-Cal Managed Care plans.

Introduction to HEDIS Measures

Six different HEDIS measures focus on treating diabetic patients

- Blood pressure control: % of patients with blood pressure less than 140/90 mm Hg
- Retinal/Eye Exam: % of patients who received a retinal/eye exam
- Hemoglobin A1c Test: % of patients who received a blood sugar test
- Hemoglobin Control: % of patients with blood sugar level of <8%
- Hemoglobin Poor Control: % of patients with blood sugar level of >9%
- Nephropathy: % of patients who received kidney disease screening test

Summary of all Plans and Diabetes HEDIS Measures

The following chart shows all 54 Medi-Cal Managed Care plans and the six HEDIS scores for diabetes care, as well as a calculated composite score summarizing each plan's diabetes care.

Numbers highlighted in red are the scores that do not meet the minimum performance level, which equals the 25th percentile of Medicaid scores nationally.

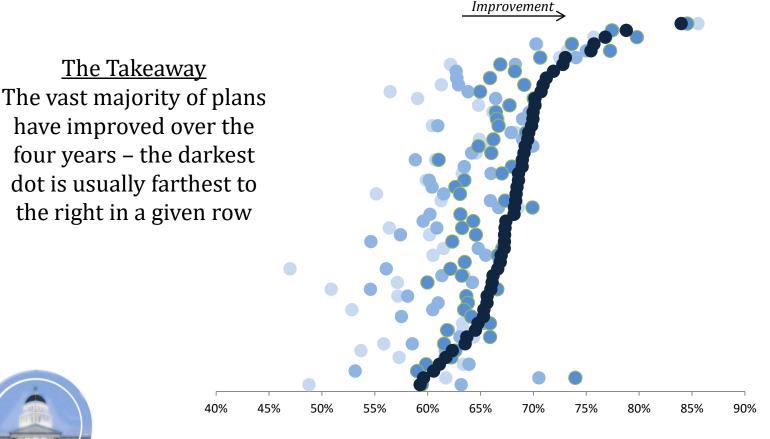

The plans are organized by their composite diabetes score (the far right column).

Medi-Cal Managed Care External Quality Review Technical Report July 1, 2016–June 30, 2017 http://www.dhcs.ca.gov/dataandstats/reports/Documents/MMCD Qual Rpts/TechRpt/CA2016-17 EQR Technical Report F1.pdf

Composite score equals the average mean of all six diabetes-related measures, which includes using the inverse for the HbA1c Poor Control (>9.0 Percent) measure because for this measure lower is better.

Some year-to-year differences of a plan's scores are statistically significant while others are not. For additional details, including which scores are statistically significantly different from the previous year, see the report linked above.
